Submit your URL so you'll be Found!

"How can you index your website in the search engines?"

This is an often asked question for any website owners, Squidoo users, Bloggers, and eBay sellers. There are several top search engines to think about, the obvious being Google and Yahoo. Indexing your website will let the search engines know you exist and might elicit a webcrawl, but it's your job to increase your page ranking and get visitors there once submitted.

To increase page rank once you have submitted your site, you will need to increase your backlinks, create a sitemap (if you can), choose an excellent title, write excellent, useful content, update your site often, and get the word out about your site.

Now how do you start this whole SEO process and submit your URL in the first place?

While Submitting your site to search engines might help...

...it isn't absolutely necessary or something that you should rely on. Gaining backlinks to your site, promoting (not spamming, but promoting by being involved!) in forums, writing your own blog and linking to your site, and creating a Squidoo lens are great ways to get noticed by Google.

Submit your URL to Google

Your First SEO Step to tell Google you exist

Google is the #1 used search engine in almost every country, and should be your first effort in registering your website to the search engines. To submit your URL to Google, simply do a Google search on "URL submit," or click the link below. This should pull up a page to submit your URL. Submit away!

Google Base

If you have an eBay store, Google also has a "Google Store Connector." By downloading this, all of your items will be available on Google Base for free, as long as you set up a google account. Start your free account and download the Google Base Store Connector. This allows you to simply upload all of your items by connecting with eBay. Your items become searchable fairly quickly, and earn you extra sales! Learn all about Google Base here.

>>Click here to Submit your URL to Google. Submissions through Google, are of course, FREE!<<

Enhance your Web Surfing!

To make your life a little bit easier as a webmaster, Google developed the Google Toolbar. You can immediately find the page rank of your site or lens, find your backlinks, and have an easy Google search box on your screen all the time!

The Poll Results...

We recently took a poll on the Microsoft-Yahoo potential merger. This merger was rejected by Yahoo, so for now, this is not a possibility. Here are the results of the question we asked:

Would you use a combined Yahoo-MSN search engine or still use Google?

57% answered "Yes, I would definitely prefer it to Google."

43% answered "No, they have a long way to go and I still like Google."

In a very competitive move, Microsoft's bid for $45 billion would have been the largest corporate takeover in history. Yahoo is currently the #2 search engine in the United States.

A Search Engine Poll

The top 3 search engines take up 95% of the online market. The remaining 5% are going to have a long battle ahead if they'd like to conquer the giants.

Submit your URL to YAHOO!

Get Found by one of the Leading Search Engines

Step 2: Yahoo

Yahoo remains one of the leading search engines, often right behind Google. To submit your URL to Yahoo, sign up for a free yahoo account and click the link below. The first entry most likely will be the Yahoo page to submit your website or store URL. Simply input the URL here and you're ready to go. Yahoo also has Yahoo Shopping, which is similar to Froogle, but is a pay-per-click program. If you feel like experimenting, try it out for a month and see if it works for you.

You can also check your backlinks through Yahoo's Site Explorer by clicking the "inlinks" button. This is very helpful.

Make a lens and promote your website!

Squidoo is a great place to promote your site, but just like your website, it needs to be great to be noticed. Make an exceptional lens for your website using Squidoo and you'll earn a royalty for all of your lenses, too!

Submit your URL to MSN

Get found on MSN Live Search

Step 3: MSN

MSN has a great search engine that is easy to use and has an extremely easy URL submission. Submit your URL to MSN by doing an MSN search on "msn url submit," or click the link below. Same deal here! This will put you into MSN searches without waiting for MSN to find you. Maybe someday you'll be submitting your URL through the combined Yahoo-MSN search engine that Microsoft is proposing?

Click Here to Submit your URL to MSN Live Search

It only makes sense...

Nearly 95% of search engine traffic comes from the top 3 search engines: Google, Yahoo and MSN. It makes sense to concentrate your efforts mainly on these sites. Once you do, the other sites will find you as well!

Which Search Engine is the Best?

Which search engines are used most?

According to hitwise.com, not surprisingly, Google is the leading used search engine, and continues to grow in popularity every month. Here are some statistics about search engines that may help you:

- Google takes up the bulk of U.S. based web searches at 65.98%
- Yahoo is second with 20.88%
- MSN is third with 7.04%
- Ask is fourth at a respectable 4.14% (please note: Ask does not have a URL submit at this time)

Shopping Comparison Websites

Pay Per Click for your Sales

If you sell items online, you can also submit your store to shopping comparison sites like Shopzilla, BizRate, Price Grabber, Shopping.com, and more. To find the leading shopping comparison sites, search "shopping comparison" and you'll find a good list. These will cost a fee, so make sure you do your research before you commit! These are often pay-per-click advertisements, so your items have to be very targeted and easy to find. You can always take a trial and see how you do with it. If it doesn't work, you can always change the keywords or cancel. To access these programs, visit the homepage of the shopping comparison site. A tiny link at the bottom of the page will read something to the effect of "merchant advertising and accounts." Here you'll find the details on each site's advertising/pay-per-click programs.

Have you Tried Google Base?

If you sell online and aren't using Google Base, you are putting yourself at a huge disadvantage. Google Base can increase sales by 10%, 25%, and in some instances account for most of a site's web traffic.

Long URLs that are HARD to Remember

Forwarding Domains

Do you have a page on a website that you wish were a shorter URL? For example, say you have an eBay store and your store name is Fonzy's House of Cool. Your URL that eBay will give you is <http://www.stores.ebay.com/fonzyshouseofcool>. This is WAY too long for anyone to type in or remember for the most part. You can shorten it up by buying a forwarding domain. These are usually pretty cheap, under $10 at most hosting companies like Go Daddy, Host Gator, or Blue Host, to name a few.

Buy the URL you want, like "Fonzyshouseofcool.com," then you'll have a URL that your customers/readers can remember! It can't take longer than five minutes, and it's excellent especially for your advertising on printed material. It should be noted that forwarding domains are tough or impossible to index, so you'll have to index the original site.

Search Engine Marketing

SEO is now one of the TOP forms of advertising!

Search engine optimization is now a crucial part of business, and without it, you're business will definitely suffer in some way. It's one of the top forms of advertising. The good news: you can have just as much leverage as some of the bigger companies, it's all up to how you lead your SEO plan!

Confused by the Weird Terms?

We just discovered this site, SEO Glossary.com that explains all of the complex terms you run across here and elsewhere. Bookmark it!

Backlinks

Search engines highly value how many links are incoming to your URL. This affects the page rank and ultimately the popularity of your website. If you have many links incoming to your site, then you will already have been indexed in the search engines. These links are commonly known as "backlinks." How can you get some backlinks to your website? Create great content! Make other sites WANT to link to you because of your outstanding content.

Not any backlink will do for your site.

Search engines rate the quality of the site linking to you. If the site that links to you has no similar content or reason to link to you, this can be negative to your search engine ranking. Be careful about who you ask for a link! Beware also of sites known as "link farms." These sites carry nothing but links to others sites, and Google (and other search engines) have punished them and any outbound link from that link farm.

Are reciprocal links okay?

A reciprocal link is a "I'll give you a link if you give me one" technique that has been very popular. Again, you must be careful who you are linking to. If the site is relevant, it is okay, however reciprocal links have been devalued by Google. Inbound links are much more valuable to page rank. Reciprocal links can be okay IF the sites linking together are relevant to each other's topics.

Remember...

Submitting your URL will help get your site crawled, however you must still build relevant links to get traffic to your site. The best way to do this is through good content!

So you've Added your URL...

"I added my URL and I'm still not getting traffic!"

Adding your URL is just a drop in the bucket of what you need to do to get your website noticed. As we've said before, content is what will make other people recommend, share, and continue to visit your website. How do you create good content? Make something unique! Don't regurgitate information and content that is already out there in the exact same way. Either find an original subject, product, topic or idea or find a way to present something in a fresh new light and the visitors will come...of course, it doesn't hurt to do a little website promotion as well.
